This course offers a unique experience at University of Tampa. We will combine traditional class lectures on the history, structure and political processes of the United Nations system with an experiential educational format. That is, students will learn, from the textbook and lectures, about the United Nations system – the political processes and decision-making processes. Students will then supplement this information with simulations on issues dealt with in the United Nations General Assembly and Security Council. In these simulations, students will learn about various issues facing the UN in today's world, and how different countries respond to these issues. The purpose of this format is simple; in February students are required to serve as delegates at the Harvard National Model United Nations. In order to ensure preparedness, this class will teach students about the United Nations system, laws, political processes, and procedural rules for debates. Students will also prepare position papers and research the policy preferences of the country that will be presented at the HNMUN by the UT delegation. The challenges students face in this course are unique and exciting, as they will travel to Boston in mid-February to compete with hundreds of other college students from around the world in statecraft and diplomatic prowess.

Student Learning Outcomes:

This course is designed such that students who have immersed themselves in the material, attending lectures regularly, doing the readings, completing all assignments diligently, and studying for exams, should be able to do the following by the end of the course:

- The student will be able to explain the history, processes, and functions of the United Nations.
- The student will be able to describe and analyze how non-Western countries formulate and advance their foreign policy agendas in the United Nations.
- The student will be able to use formal rules of parliamentary procedure to participate in debates, write resolutions, and vote on them.

Requirements:

Given that this class is a combination of traditional and experientially-oriented exercises, the requirements reflect a diverse array of assignments. These assignments challenge you to learn about the UN and how it operates, your assigned topical area, and our assigned country. Though it may be altered slightly and/or clarified by professorial edict either in class or via email, consider this syllabus a contract between you and your professor that lists both what you can expect from class and what is expected of you. Check it regularly and always bring it to class with your notebook. You are expected to read EVERYTHING assigned on the syllabus. You are also expected to attend EVERY lecture. Visiting your professors on occasion during office hours to discuss issues raised in class and/or paper topics will not hurt either. Neither will meeting with your peers to practice for the HNMUN. If you do these things you will do very well in the course. If you do not do these things you will not do so well in the course. Consider this fair warning up front.

You will be evaluated in this class based on your performance in 6 areas. These areas, along with their relative weights, are as follows:

UN Readings Quizzes (15%) – given out at the beginning of class for Weeks 9, 10, and 11. These short quizzes will be approximately 10 questions long and cover the assigned readings from Fasulo for that day. Lowest grade will be dropped so there are no make-up quizzes.

Country Readings Quizzes (15%) – given out at the beginning of class for Weeks 12, 14, and 15. These short quizzes will be approximately 10 questions long and cover the assigned readings about our country for that day. Lowest grade will be dropped so there are no make-up quizzes.

Chair Panel (10%) – During Weeks 9 through 15 we hold 11 practice sessions (approximately 30 minutes a piece). This is an opportunity to practice floor debates and parliamentary procedure. For most of these sessions you will be a floor participant assigned a country but for one you will chair. At our first class you will be assigned a session to chair. The entire class will be prepared to argue the topic (available here <http://www.hnmun.org>) from their country's perspective. Chairing a panel involves a short (1-3 minute) summary of the topic as well as governing the flow of debate through the correct application of parliamentary procedures.

Committee Report (10%) – After you are assigned a committee, you will write a 1-2 page (TNR 12 point, single-spaced, 1 inch margins) on your committee's history, rules, and major contemporary issues. This paper is due via Blackboard by Monday 26 November. Late papers will be penalized at a rate of 10 percent per day.

Position Papers (25%) – HNMUN requires delegates to write one single-spaced page paper for each potential topic area their committee will consider. These papers will be forwarded to the HNMUN staff in January but should be submitted via Blackboard as a Word Document for the purposes of this class no later than Friday 7 December. Each position paper has three basic parts: your country's national interests, your country's national policies, and your opinion on potential resolution components. Sample position papers will be provided. If you are assigned a two delegate committee this is a group assignment. If you are assigned a one person committee this is an individual assignment. Late papers will be penalized at a rate of 10 percent per day.

Participation (25%) - In order to prepare for the conference you must be present in class and participate in the simulations that will take place. You can only learn Robert's Rules through repeated engagement. This class offers plenty of opportunity to gain this experience. You may miss a single class without penalty. Any more than a single absence will result in the forfeiture of one-fourth of your participation grade. Excused absences will be determined according to the university attendance policy regarding scheduled and unscheduled absences and must be accompanied with appropriate documentation. It is not enough to just show up to receive this grade, however. Students will be observed and evaluated on both the frequency and quality of their engagement. It would be hard to imagine a debate going by where an engaged student does not at least once voice his/her position.

Important Due Dates:

Participation	Weeks 9 – 15
UN Quizzes	Weeks 9, 10, and 11
Country Quizzes	Weeks 12, 14, and 15
Chair Panel	Once during Weeks 10-15
Committee Report	Monday 26 November
Position Papers	Friday 7 December

Grading:

The course letter grade will be determined according to the following scale:

Letter Grade	Quality Points	Numeric Scale*
A	4.0	93-100
AB	3.5	88-92
B	3.0	83-87
BC	2.5	78-82
C	2.0	73-77
CD	1.5	68-72
D	1.0	60-67
F	0.0	Below 60

*We will round up at the .5 and NOT before. For example, if you earn an 87.49 you will receive a B for the class. If you earn an 87.5 you will receive an AB. The only exception to this rule concerns the line between a D and an F. If you make below 60 points, even if it is by the smallest fraction of a point, we will NOT round up.

Required Texts:

General Classroom Information

A few things every student should know.

Emergency Conditions - In case of any adverse condition or situation which could interrupt the schedule of classes, each student is asked to access www.ut.edu for information about the status of the campus and class meetings. In addition, please refer to Blackboard for announcements and other important information. You are responsible for accessing this information.

Special Needs - If there is a student who requires accommodations because of any disability, please go to the Academic Success Center in North Walker Hall for information regarding registering as a student with a disability. You may also call (813) 257-5757 or email disability.services@ut.edu. Please feel free to discuss this issue with me, in private, if you need more information.

Classroom Disruption Policy – Every student has the right to a comfortable learning environment where the open and honest exchange of ideas may freely occur. Each student is expected to do his or her part to ensure that the classroom (and anywhere else the class may meet) remains conducive to learning. This includes respectful and courteous treatment of all in the classroom. According to the terms of the University of Tampa Disruption Policy, the professor will take immediate action when inappropriate behavior occurs.

Mental Health Counseling – College can be a stressful time in a young person's life. The American Psychiatric Association published a recent study of college students observed over the course of a single academic year. Over 60% of students reported feeling things were hopeless one or more times, almost 40% of the men and 50% of the women reported feeling so depressed that they had difficulty functioning one or more times, and 10% of the students reported seriously considering attempting suicide at least one time. If at some point during your time at UT you begin to feel depressed or out of control for any reason you should realize that you are not alone and there is help available to you. Your professors are happy to counsel you on the problems you are having coping with academic life, but there are dedicated mental health counselors available to you through UT's Health and Counseling Center located at 111 North Brevard Ave. (behind Austin Hall) who you may feel more comfortable disclosing certain types of non-academic problems to. The time to deal with mental health issues is when they arise and not after your grade has deteriorated. Their email is healthcenter@ut.edu and their phone numbers are 813-253-6250 (during business hours) and 813-257-7777 (outside of business hours for emergencies).

Title IX Statement - Sexual violence includes nonconsensual sexual contact and nonconsensual sexual intercourse (which is any type of sexual contact without your explicit consent, including rape), dating violence, sexual harassment, sexual exploitation, domestic violence, and stalking. You may reach out for confidential help or report an incident for investigation. If you choose to write or speak about an incident of sexual violence and disclose that this violence occurred while you were a UT student, the instructor is obligated to report the incident to the Title IX Deputy Coordinator for Students. The purpose of this report is to provide a safe and nondiscriminatory environment for all students. The Deputy Coordinator or his or her designee will contact you to let you know about the resources, accommodations, and support services at UT and possibilities for holding the perpetrator accountable. If you do not want the Title IX Coordinator notified, instead of disclosing this information to your instructor, you can speak confidentially with the following individuals: - The Victim's Advocacy Hotline 813.257.3900; Dickey Health & Wellness Center (wellness@ut.edu) 813.257.1877; Health and Counseling Center (healthcenter@ut.edu) 813.253.6250. They can connect you with support services and discuss options for holding the perpetrator accountable.

Academic Assistance – The Academic Success Center (academicsuccess@ut.edu) in North Walker Hall offers free peer tutoring, credited academic skills courses, national testing services, and services for students with disabilities. The Saunders Writing Center (323 Plant Hall, x6244) aids students with their writing projects. The Public Speaking Center (KBB 200, speakingcenter@ut.edu) offers students help with presentations. You pay for these services through your tuition and there is no shame in using them if you need help with your course work. I am more than happy to discuss any academic issues you might have during office hours but if I think one of these services can help you be more successful I will not hesitate to recommend it.

Academic Integrity – Cheating, plagiarism, copying and any other behavior that is contrary to University standards of behavior will not be tolerated. Students caught violating any aspect of the University of Tampa’s Academic Integrity Policy will be penalized in all cases. Penalty ranges from “0” on an assignment to “F” for the course without regard to a student’s accumulated points. Students may also face expulsion. It is the student’s responsibility to become familiar with the policies of the university regarding academic integrity and to avoid violating such policies. Policy information is found in the university catalog under the heading “Academic Integrity Policy.”
